Re: SLIDERS -- "Slither" Production draft dated 2/27/97

Gentlemen,

This will confirm that I have received the production draft for the episode listed above and have the following comments:

Pages 2 & 8: Please ensure that there are no commercially identifiable airlines visible at the Zamara Terminal and at San Francisco International Airport. All commercial planes and terminals must be generic or fictitious.

Page 6: Standard caution: Please clear "Xentech" as fictitious.

Page 11: Please use a tight shot of the shoulder area when you show the knee to the groin scene.

Page 17: Please no penetration shot as Carlos jams the knife into Don.

Page 18: Please ensure the store and the bottled water are generic or fictitious.

Page 23: As above, the label on the aspirin bottle should be generic or fictitious.

Page 24: Please exercise caution when Maggie strips down, yet again, that her underwear provides sufficient coverage. May I suggest a fabric other than cotton as cotton underwear tends to hug and reveal when wet.

Page 30: Please do not depict Carlos repeating the stabbing action as it plays too extremely.

Page 39: Please exercise caution that it doesn't appear overly graphic when Quinn pins the snake to the floor with the knife.

Page 44: There must be no actual physical contact between Wade's head and the barrel of Carlos' derringer.

Page 47: Please find some other action than having Carlos backhand Kyra with the gun. This type of assault toward women is violent and plays much too extremely.
