TREVOR: A boy about 11 to 15 to play 11, Trevor is a cocky kid, the leader of a group of "street urchins" in Park 21. In fact, Trevor is a brilliant young boy who has been given the opportunity to play the leader of The Baker Street Irregulars in Arturo's extended fantasy life. Just as gifted at deduction as the fictional Mr. Sherlock Holmes, Trevor makes off with the Sliders' timer, and concludes its true purpose. Smart and too willing to show off, Trevor is an observant boy who spots the real killer, and winds up the target of a manhunt...LEAD (15) PLEASE SUBMIT CHILDREN WITH GUEST STAR CREDITS ONLY

DR. PUNCH: Mid to late 30s, a pretty young woman evaluator, Dr. Punch is in charge of studying patients who have suffered an emotional breakdown (called a "fracture"), and devising an appropriate course of treatment. Convinced that Arturo is some kind of incognito government bigshot, Dr. Punch devises a rather elaborate therapy for Arturo...4 speeches & 4 lines, 2 scene (6)

MRS. HUDSON: Late 30s to early 40s, Mrs. Hudson is the housekeeper at 221B Baker Street, who brings Arturo/Sherlock Holmes his evening tea, and later delivers a package to him...3 lines, 2 scenes (14)

WONK: An eager, serious young government worker, he reports to Dr. Punch on the mysterious Professor Maximilian Arturo...1 speech & 3 lines, 1 scene (6) [Copyright 1996, BREAKDOWN SERVICES, LTD.]

ANNE: This young woman leads a training session, during which the Sliders are indoctrinated into their new lives as role-playing extras in the role-playing fantasyland that is Park 21...1 speech, 1 scene (13)

YOUNG WOMAN: Mid 20s, pretty, a young woman in a business suit, named Darla, she is a security agent who spots Arturo "out of uniform," is convinced that he has "fractured" due to stress, and quietly sedates him...4 lines, 1 scene (3) [Copyright 1996, BREAKDOWN SERVICES, LTD.]

GUIDE: Early to mid 20s, a guide at the entry to Park 21, he herds the new employees onto the trams, using an electronic bullhorn, and seems convinced that the Sliders are idiots...2 lines, 1 scene (11)

STORY LINE: The Sliders jump into a rigidly stratified society in which stress is relieved through intense role-playing games, aided by mind altering devices, and Arturo is manipulated into believing himself the incarnation of Sherlock Holmes...

DR. BOLIVAR: A trim, sandy-haired man in his mid 40s, Bolivar is a psychiatrist in an alternate world, in which people who have suffered nervous breakdowns are restored to health by role-playing in a large theme park. After concluding that Arturo has "fractured" under stress, Bolivar orders a unique course of treatment for the Slider patient, electronically manipulating Arturo into believing himself to be Sherlock Holmes. Seemingly the benign supervisor of a unique form of mental therapy, Bolivar has in fact "fractured" rather badly, and obsessively believes himself to be Jack The Ripper. When the deranged Dr. Bolivar fixates on Wade as his next victim, it takes all of Arturo's deductive powers to trap a madman...LEAD (9)

LESTRADE: A handsome young man in 1860s period dress, wearing a suit and a bowler hat, he plays Inspector Lestrade in the elaborate fantasy world that is Park 21—but in fact, he is Dr. Dunhill, the Park Supervisor. Believing himself to be stage-managing a host of performers in a complex drama involving Sherlock Holmes and Jack The Ripper, Lestrade watches in imitation as little things start going out of control: first Quinn is selected by the delusional Arturo to play Watson, and next a real Ripper starts eliminating the supporting players. Faced with serious problems, Lestrade has no choice but to trust in the deductive powers of Sherlock Holmes (Arturo) to restore order...LEAD (13) [Copyright 1996, BREAKDOWN SERVICES, LTD]

TREVOR: A boy about 10 or 11, Trevor is a cocky kid, the leader of a group of "street urchins" in Park 21. In fact, Trevor is a brilliant young boy who has been given the opportunity to play the leader of The Baker Street Irregulars in Arturo's extended fantasy life. Just as gifted at deduction as the fictional Mr. Sherlock Holmes, Trevor makes off with the Sliders' limo, and concludes its true purpose. Smart and too willing to show off, Trevor is an observant boy who spots the real killer, and winds up the target of a manhunt...LEAD (15)

ERIN: A pretty, harned young woman, Erin is highly stressed, and is assigned a working vacation at Park 21. Delighted to be given the opportunity to do some serious role-playing and escape from the tension of a rigid society, Erin befriends the Sliders and delightedly transforms herself into a Victorian music-hall performer. Thrilled to be selected to play the important role of a Ripper victim, Erin winds up killed by the hopelessly insane Dr. Bolivar...5 speeches & 8 lines, 4 scenes (11) [Copyright 1996, BREAKDOWN SERVICES, LTD.]
