

SLIDERS

Into the Mystic - Season Premiere

#K0807

While sliding into the next world, Quinn is hurt, on MCA TV International's SLIDERS season premiere episode titled Into the Mystic.

The sliders look for a doctor to help Quinn and discover that they are in a world of witchcraft. Quinn is treated by Dr. Wu, who is a witch doctor. When the group tries to leave without paying the medical bill, they are visited by "grim reapers" who bring them a subpoena. The sliders consult a lawyer who explains that Dr. Wu is suing Quinn for his brain. They are also told by the lawyer that the only one who can help them is the Sorcerer, a man who lives on the other side of the Golden Gate Bridge and refuses to see anyone.

The sliders quickly find out from the fortune teller that the Sorcerer is also a slider. The sliders get to the Sorcerer who, in exchange for his help, wants blueprints that are in the possession of Dr. Wu. When the sliders return with the blueprints, they discover that the Sorcerer is actually Quinn #2, and he tries to send them back to their "home." Quinn has always used the sound of the squeaky front gate as a clue that he is "home." When he returns, the gate does not squeak, so they go on another slide. However, we learn that his parents had the gate repaired to get rid of the squeaking sound.

SLIDERS

Love Gods

#K0803

When the sliders arrive in this new world, they quickly notice that the women are in awe of them, on MCA TV International's SLIDERS episode titled Love Gods.

Quinn, Arturo, and Rembrandt are soon taken into custody by women police officers and discover that they have landed in a world where men are almost extinct. They are taken to the "Re-Population Center" where they are held captive with other men and are being prepared to become breeders. Since the near extinction of all men, different countries in the world are competing to re-populate. While Wade is being watched and suspected of being a "handler," the male sliders escape from their captivity with the help of David, an imprisoned male, and his girlfriend, Diana. While trying to escape, Quinn is hit with a tranquilizer dart and is brought to safety by Jane. Jane offers to help Quinn in exchange for impregnating her. Also during the escape, Diana is captured by the Bureau of Re-Population. Wade makes a deal for the release of Diana by making the Bureau believe that they will get three breeds (the sliders), from the Australians in exchange for the return of Australia's star breeder. The exchange becomes an escape and all the sliders, along with David and Diana, make the slide to the next world.

SLIDERS

Gillian of the Spirits

#K0810

When Quinn is strangely separated from the other sliders, trapped alone on a strange astral plane, his only hope lies with Gillian, a young girl with psychic powers -- and the only one who can see and hear him, on MCA TV International's SLIDERS episode titled Gillian of the Spirits.

The sliders arrive in a world where there has been a restriction on all technology and any use is punishable by death. During the slide, the wormhole is hit by lightning while Quinn is about to slide. When they all land, Quinn is nowhere to be found and the timer has been damaged. Although Quinn is actually there, he can only be seen by a young girl, named Gillian. She helps Quinn to communicate with the others so that they can repair the timer in this world where electrical parts are almost non-existent. The sliders find a man who may be able to help them, Mike Mallory, Quinn's father. In this world, "Quinn" is dead. The sliders discover that there is a group of underground people who want to bring back technology. With the help of Mike Mallory, Gillian, and Gillian translating for Quinn, they are able to fix the timer for the next slide.
